1. General Information

- Workshop title:
- Proposed dates:

AMS 2020 Mathematics Subject Classification

Please provide 2–6 AMS 2020 Mathematics Subject Classification codes that best describe the mathematical topics of the proposal.

2. Organizers

Include name, affiliation, email.

3. Scientific content and format

Describe the mathematical context and the main objectives of the meeting. Explain the key problems, recent developments, and the connections between the different topics. Also describe the planned format of the meeting, including the structure of a typical day (for example, whether lectures are scheduled and, if so, their duration).

Bibliography: Include a bibliography of 5 to 15 references.

CIRM is deeply committed to supporting diversity, equity and inclusion in all of its forms. Feel free to comment on how your event will contribute.

Please keep in mind that this will be read by non-specialists and should be understandable to the whole scientific council.

5. Preliminary list of participants

Provide a preliminary list of expected participants, including their country of residence and institutional affiliation. If lectures are planned, please indicate the invited speakers. If a complete list of participants is not yet available, provide an estimate of the expected number of participants. Please also indicate the estimated number of participants from groups currently underrepresented in mathematics (e.g. women) and the estimated number of early-career participants (PhD students, postdoctoral researchers, and junior faculty).

Note that CIRM is always happy to host participants from low and middle-income countries.

Gender balance: If possible, the targeted proportion of non-male participants is at least 40%. Feel free to add a brief comment if the proportion is significantly below this target.
